WHAT'S A SOPHOMORE?????

According to Mr. Webster, a sophomore is "a student in the second year of his college course." The word itself—says Mr. Webster—originated from the Greek words sophos meaning wise and mos meaning foolish; and it is equivalent to the Latin words sophistamator, meaning "one who makes arguments."

Right, Mr. Webster, "truer words have n'eer been spoken." Now you seniors, juniors, and freshmen come over to the gym tonight and help us uphold this reputation of being both wise and foolish and inclined to argue, rather somewhat compete.

To The Sophomore Benefit

On February the third, you see,
There's going to be a jamboree.
A Sophomore Benefit, so it's called,
But fun and amusement for you all.

A jitterbug contest, but that's not all
The MELODEERS will swing to call
All ye dancers and ballroom rovers;
No "Annie's" are we—the tests are over.

This doesn't rhyme; it isn't funny;
It isn't witty; it isn't punny.
All that this jingle hasn't got,
The SOPHOMORE BENEFIT has—
—it's tops!

By R. G.

On socialized medicine: Tulane University students voted 664 to 416 against the idea, with medical students opposing it by 128 to 24.

Sophomore Prexy

Jeanette Cooper

Jeanette Cooper, President of the Sophomore Class and Mistress of Ceremonies for the Sophomore Benefit was graduated from Hampton High School, Hampton, Virginia in 1936. Not only is Miss Cooper an efficient and capable President but she is also outstanding in her class work. She possesses the distinct qualities of leadership, friendliness, tactfulness, grace, poise, sincerity, and the ability to make people join in and cooperate. Miss Cooper has been a leader on campus since her enrollment here. She is a member of the Leader's Club, Alpha Phi Sigma, the Riding Club, the Dance Club and the I. R. C.

Other class officers are Mary Elizabeth Welsh, Vice-President; Margaret Gilman, Secretary; and Peggy Snow, Treasurer.

A Sophomore Prayer

Dear Lord,

I wish I had:

The eyes of Ann Parker
The nose of Myra Birchett
The smile of Eugenia Clark
The teeth of Lucy Dickinson
The wit of Ray Goodman
The grace of . Margaret Gilman
The figure of . Emaline Burnette
The personality of Mary George

Gay.

The hair of Nan Philips (brunette), Beverly Roberts (blonde).
The skin of . "Willie" Rawlings
The indescribable something of Nancy Moseley.

The originality of The Gillum Twins.

The brains of . Jeannette Cooper
The voice of June Stoll
The good-humor of Donald Holden.

Amen: Sophie Moore.

On radio artists: Temple University students voted Jack Benny, Charlie McCarthy and the Radio Theatre as the "most listened to" programs. Kay Kyser and Larry Clinton were the most popular dance bands.

On mustaches: for collegians: Macalester College co-eds voted 95 per cent against them.

Jitterbug Contest

Will Be Feature Of Benefit Tonight

All Sophomores and fellow-students, swingers, songsters, and dignitaries, will swing and sway to the tunes of the "Melodeers" in the big gym tonight at 7:30 all for the sake of a Jitterbug Contest sponsored by the Sophomore Class.

The "wise Sophs," guided by their president, Jeanette Cooper, realizing the need for a bit of diversion after six-weeks tests, have planned an evening brimming full of variety and fun.

The high-light of the affair will be a Jitterbug Contest in which students, representatives of all classes on the hill, will compete. Whether the contestant be "Miss Dignified Senior" or "Miss Green Freshie," she will cast aside all position, pride, and pretense in an attempt to get the "jitters" and get them badly! To the couple who is most successful in acquiring a case of this streamlined, ultra-modern disease will go a cash award. The winning couple will be chosen by Miss Mildred Stewart, Mr. Earl Nicks, and Mr. Edgar Woodward.

The dancing couples will be interrupted while the evening is yet young for a specially planned program consisting of exhibitions, trio singing, and tragedy and comedy acts. Immediately before and after the contest and program, the gym floor will be clear for general dancing.

The following Sophomores are serving as heads of the various preparatory committees: Dorothy Shaw and Emaline Burnette, Publicity; Marjorie Johnson, Decorations; Lucy Dickinson, Contestants; Arabelle Laws, Fixtures; Jean DeCoss, Food; Mary Elizabeth Welsh, Program; Peggy Snow, Tickets.

For the swellest, swingiest, swankiest evening of the season, join the Sophs tonight at 7:30 in the gym. Coco-Colas will be sold at intervals for the enjoyment of all but especially as an expression of sympathy for all shortwinded jitterbugs. Whether you can, can't, or think you can—tonight is your chance to prove to all that you can jitter!

It's Never Too Late

You've heard that old adage, "It's never too late", time and time again, but tonite it has special meaning. There's still time for you to amble over to the gym and enter the Sophomore Jitterbug contest. Just put on your best "jitter-bugging" shoes and join the crowd. You may be the lucky one to win the prize. Come on, now, we Sophs need you!

On "ism" teaching: Exactly 88 per cent of the University of Minnesota students included in a recent interview said faculty members had made no attempt to influence them in regard to communism, socialism or fascism.

KEYHOLE KOMMENTS

Geepers-Creepers! Open those peepers! We know its hard after being up so late for that President's Ball, but don't worry—you'll probably have weeks in which to catch up on your sleep.

Milscant Graeff and Eleanor Batchette it seems that the blue and the red was here in all its glory (and we do mean Blackburg), even if they didn't tarry long.

Keep "thems" feet still and let 'em rest 'til Friday night, that my public is the time to swing out and let go at the jitterbug contest—Sophomore benefit.

Disappointments just have no place around old M. W. C! By the way did you happen to see the cute dates that Nancy Hern and Virginia Fiske had on Sunday. The young gentlemen were Mr. Bismark I and Mr. Bismark II, with rather blank expressions.

"Campus Cut-ups"

Y W Cabinet To Go To Cabin

Maude Rae Smith, president of Y. W., has invited the entire Cabinet to go to the cabin for the week-end. Committees have been appointed to make plans for an enjoyable time. This is the first entirely social event the Cabinet has had.

The cabin has been a popular week-end resort for many years. Every Mary Washington girl wants to be able to say that she has spent at least one night in that traditional old hut, the cabin. This week-end will be the first visit for many of the girls on Cabinet and all of them are anticipating a jolly good time.

There will be a meeting of the "Eat-a-bit-a-pie" Executive Board tonight at 10:15

Welcome back you old ones, Martha Anderson and Ellen Saunders spent a couple days with us!

Kay Mathews you were really a cute girl—rushing up to Annapolis again. It's getting to be a week-end habit with you we believe—center of interest we'd guess!

Congratulations to our new comers and the present May Queen—Adine Goodloe.

Eloise Caverlee was elected the vice-president of the German Club Tuesday night!

In case you don't understand the building shaking and windows rattling its those girls practicing for the jitterbug contest!

As Long As We're Together

Another Day Is Gone—Whoopie! A Million Dreams Ago—Christmas.

Could You Pass In Love—I couldn't pass in anything.

Deep In A Dream—Monday morning.

Everybody's Doin' It Now—Studying.

Far Away—June 2.

Get Out Of Town—Wish I could!

It Took A Million Years—Honor Roll.

I've Got A Date With A Dream—That's the only kind of date I can get up here.

I Sent A Letter To My Love—but did I get an answer? No!

On A South Sea Island—Where I'd love to be when Dr. Moss asks me a question.

Oh! I Hate To Get Up In The Morning—And how!!!!

Please Be Kind—A dedication to all teachers.

Sixty Seconds Got Together—make an hour in class.

Shame! Shame—Deficiencies.

"Pot Boiler" Presented by F. H. S. Club

Wednesday's convocation was devoted to an amusing play, "The Pot-Boiler" presented by The Prop and Spot Club of Fredericksburg High school. The audience enthusiastically greeted the production, some of them besieging the young artists with demands for autographs.

The comedy was directed by Gladys M. Alrich and was presented by special arrangement with Longman Green.

The cast was:
Gus Bob Holloway
Mr. Sud Richard Cornwell
Mr. Woulby Tedo Savage
Miss Ivory Jennelle Kennedy
Mrs. Fencil Nancy Inglis
Mr. Inkwell Albert Sigafosse
Mr. Ruler Ralph Franklin
Mr. Ivory Rodney Langford

Polls on peace strikes: Mills College students voted 293 to 57 in favor of participating in the national student peace day scheduled to be held in April.

Society Notations

I. Washington and Lee Fancy Dress Ball

Among the girls from Mary Washington College who will attend the Washington and Lee Fancy Dress Ball will be: Jo Lee Fleet, Grace Meads Parker, Sophia Eisenman, and Doris O'Brien.

II. Alumna Spends Tuesday at College

Kitty Turner, (Mrs. Fred Saunders), of Richmond, spent Tuesday here at the college.

III. Week-Enders

Nancy Moseley will attend the Mid-Winters at Hampton-Sydney. Billie Ladd and Clelia Petrucelli will week-end it in Hampton.

Marguerite Tuck is going home to Pembroke this week-end.

Connie Hawthorne plans to go home to Richmond.

Libby Shackelford is spending the week-end at home in Hampton.

Eleanor Small and Peggy Austin are going to Edenton, N. C., for the week-end.

Leighton Stevens expects to spend the week-end in Roanoke.

IV. Here And There

Room 340 Virginia Hall entertained over 60 people at tea on last Sunday afternoon from 3:30 to 5 in honor of Miss Bernice Salasty, who was visiting for the week-end, and Miss Esther Goldspinner, who was celebrating a birthday.

Miss Hannah Grashl of Willard Hall is anticipating (or should be!) a wonderful time next week-end. She will attend Mid-Winters at the University of Virginia.

Miss Jean Downer and Miss Piggy Whitaker, it is rumored, will truck on down to Richmond this week-end. This is getting to be somewhat of a habit with Piggy—she has a very special interest there!

We should like to suggest that Midge Clapp might try taking a few lessons in ice skating. She took a tumble on a recent out-of-town visit and the results are—well we wouldn't say serious, but nevertheless Midge says she would feel better had she stayed on her feet.

O. K. Tead Alexander! We saw you entertaining a whole group of young gentlemen in Frances Willard the other night. Why the superfluous, lady fair?

'Warrior's Husband' To Be Played Feb. 24-25

"The Warrior's Husband", a play which will have a particular appeal for the student body, is very soon to be given on the Hill. This play, by Julian Thompson, makes merry with the legendary Amazons, the legends of Hercules, and the Trojan War. Here in the Amazon country, man is nothing but a servant. The women do all the fighting and ruling—and manage to look extremely attractive in armor. To this Caucasian land comes an army of Greek warriors, sight-seeing on their way to besiege Troy and lending a hand to a poor half-wit named Hercules, who has promised his publicity man (a guy called Homer) to steal the sacred girdle of the Amazon's queen. The opposing warriors line up for a big battle, but call a truce for the night—and in the morning are the best of friends.

As long as the Greek hero, Theseus, fights the fiery little Amazon with sword and shield she is a match for him. Upholding the proud Amazon boast of superiority over men, she attacks furiously in the best traditions of her race. When the battle is carried into another field, however, she melts and promptly leaves her sister Amazons to carry on by themselves. Her interest in the feminist cause miraculously disappears.

One certain fact is that the majority of women will, until the end of time, consider the world well lost for love. Causes and careers may have their appeal up to a certain point, but beyond that they cease to have any importance.

This is the theme of the hilarious comedy entitled "The Warrior's Husband" which the Mary Washington Players will present in the auditorium on the nights of February 24 and 25.

Wedding On Pop Program

The Pop Program Saturday night will be a wedding—a most unusual one, too! It's at seven o'clock in the auditorium. Marjorie Holcomb is in charge of the program.

Racing a train to a crossing is hardly fair to one's life insurance company.

Change At Home Ec. Practice House

Ruth Hooker, member of the Senior Class and a major in Home Economics, has moved into the Home Management Residence to take the place of Sue Woodward.

Mrs. Eula Porter Robins was the guest of the Home Management Residence girls and Miss Mary Margaret Shaw at dinner on Tuesday evening, January 31.

Miss Adine Goodloe Chosen May Queen At Recent Election

Just Try

Have you ever tried to interview a newly elected May Queen? If you haven't, don't try. It's hopeless. Armed with pencil and paper I went in search of our "girl of the hour", Miss Adine Goodloe of Dayton, Virginia.

Evidently third floor Virginia was anxious to congratulate Adine too. Quite evidently, also, they all wanted to ask her questions. After three attempts to make myself heard, I retreated to a far corner to await a lull in the conversation.

She Wouldn't Talk

Some time later Miss Goodloe escaped and got to her room. The others went off in groups to talk about the record Virginia Hall has made this year. First the "Beauty" and then the "Queen". Armed still with my writing equipment I dashed into the room hoping for a big story from Adine herself. But would she talk? She would not. That is, not at all sensibly. "It's—It's such a surprise. I didn't eat any dinner. I'm just a transfer. I still—Well, really, I can't say anything. I don't know what to say. Won't you sit down?"

To The Rescue

After ten minutes of trying to get her to tell me about herself, I gave up in despair. Anyway, about that time two or three hundred admirers burst into the room and I was forced back into a far corner. Then I spied my solution.—Her room mate.

Room-mate Talks

If Adine wouldn't talk maybe her roommate would. She did. I learned from her that Adine had made quite a record for herself at Mississippi College for Women. It seems down, over or which way it is, in Mississippi at the Woman's College they have a wedding to unite the Junior and Freshman classes in place of a May Day. The Juniors are dressed in Colonial men's attire and the Freshman in Colonial dresses. The President of the college gives the bride away. The bride always is a Freshman, and the groom a Junior. The service is very impressive.

From 600!

Well, to get to the point, our Adine was chosen from almost six hundred Freshman to represent the Freshman class in the union of the classes. While Adine was busy blushing and accepting very congratulatory remarks, her roommate brought out her annual and showed me a picture of Adine taken at the time of the Class Wedding. Need I say she looked lovely? You know she did!

Exit Convinced

About this time, I decided our May Queen needed a rest. I thanked her very helpful roommate and made my exit fully convinced that the many complimentary remarks that had been made were not exaggerated.

Maid of Honor Nominees

On Monday evening, January 30, the Student Body selected Miss Adine Goodloe from Dayton, Virginia as May Queen of Mary Washington College for 1939. At the same time nominations for Maid-of-Honor were taken. Those nominated were Virginia Anderson, Miriam Carpenter, Margaret Clark, Mary Estes, Virginia Fiske, Helen Fuimer, Buelah Mason, and Eleanor Small. The election for Maid-of-Honor will be held early next week.

WE---Chose A QUEEN

We, the student body, have just elected our May Queen! We elected her because she stood for the characteristics and traits we wanted embodied in our Queen.

We elected her because of her looks, her poise, her grace, her charm, and her personality. We chose her because she was lovely.

We got more than all this. We got a girl with high ideals, a pleasing disposition, and a sense of humor.

We have made our selection. Now we can congratulate not only Adine, but ourselves. We, the student body, chose wisely. WE CHOSE A QUEEN!!!!

Fencing Club Elects Officers

At a brief organization meeting of the Mary Washington College Fencing Club, Grace Meade Parker was elected President, Vivian Ale, Secretary-Treasurer, and Almeda Hill, chairman of publicity. The club, newly-formed, is composed of seven charter members, all of whom were members last year of a fencing group directed by Dr. Caroline B. Sinclair. From time to time, new members for the club will be drawn from those girls receiving instruction in fencing this quarter. The charter members include: Vivian Ale, Margaret Ashby, Eliza Embrey, Grace Meade Parker, Almeda Hill, Eleanor Phillips and Dorothy Shaw.

The club will meet twice weekly, beginning February 7, in the gymnasium, the eighth hour Tuesday and Thursday. The Tuesday meeting will be the regular compulsory meeting. The Thursday meeting will be voluntary for those members who wish additional practice and will be open for those from the faculty and student body who wish to observe.

Modern Portias To Sponsor Trip

The Modern Portias are planning to sponsor a trip to New York City and Boston during the Easter Holidays. The trip is being planned to include anyone from the entire student body who wishes to go. The approximate cost of this trip is estimated at $50.00.

The group will leave Thursday before Easter, and will return by the end of the Holidays. The plan is to go from New York to Boston by boat.

Let's have a big crowd! Think it over and let Hazel Ford, P. O. Box 211, know so she can make the necessary reservations. Try to let her know as soon as possible.

Gym To Be Open For Sports

Nita Stokes, president of Athletic Association Council, announced this week that the gym is open to all competitive sports, but the arrangements must be made through some member of the Physical Education Faculty. Girls can't participate in sports if they are physically unfit in any way. The captains are held responsible for this and should see that the ruling is rigidly enforced.

Any student who wants to have a game in the gym can do so by arranging a date with any of the Physical Education teachers. The captains of the various teams must, however, strictly enforce the ruling that no student who is physically unfit in any way can take part in those contests.
